ABSTRACT

This survey report summarizes the availability of information and communication technology (ICT) resources in Higher Secondary Schools (HSS), Middle Secondary Schools (MSS), Lower Secondary Schools (LSS), Primary Schools (PS) and Extended Classroom (ECR) in public schools, private schools and 22 Bhutan Bacculaureate schools. The report covers the adequacy of ICT facilities, internet connectivity, availability of ICT teachers and ICT lab assistants, students and teachers owning personal laptops and implementation of CodeMonkey programmes. This survey report highlights the key findings and the recommendations for relevant stakeholders to address.

INTRODUCTION

ICT in schools refers to hardware, software and other tools such as, computers, personal laptops, smartphones, printers, LCD projectors, TV screen, interactive board, photocopier and Internet. Educators or teachers are expected to use ICT proficiently in order to enhance teaching and learning in classrooms. UNESCO (2011) stated that using ICT can improve the instruction and learning in schools.

During the 14th Convocation of the Royal University of Bhutan (RUB) in May, 2019, His Majesty the King shared his concerns about the dramatic changes brought about by the emerging technology — its scale of growth and scope, and the consequences of lagging behind. If we are not able to embrace and leverage technology, we will be invariably left behind.

Technology has a huge potential to enhance quality and access to education, create jobs, ensure good governance with effective and efficient delivery of services, develop and grow private sectors, and enhance accountability and transparency. It is driven by new developments, such as, Artificial Intelligence, Quantum Computing, Block chain, Machine Learning, Big Data, IOT (the Internet of Things), Virtual Reality and Augmented Reality, etc..

Guided by the Druk Gyalpo's vision and also realising the huge opportunity provided by technology, the Ministry of Education (MoE) has been working to enhance ICT in the Bhutanese education system.

ICT in the Bhutanese education system was introduced in the late 1990s with Indian Certificate Secondary Examinations (ICSE) Computer studies that were offered in a few high schools. In early 2000, the then Ministry of Health and Education introduced ICT education in Bhutan. In 2002, computer application was introduced as an optional subject in class IX in eight high schools, and was gradually expanded to other high schools that had computer labs.

One of the biggest developments in ICT education came with the Chiphen Rigpel Project, initiated by the Ministry of Information and Communications and NIIT India. The project established computer labs in 168 schools, introduced ICT literacy curriculum for all students from class VII and above, and trained more than 5,000 teachers in basic ICT skills.

As recommended in the e-Gov Masterplan 2012, the Ministry of Education (MoE) initiated the development of the Education Sector ICT Master Plan iSherig (2014-2018) to harness ICT as an enabling tool in teaching and learning. This was also initiated to rationalise and streamline ICT activities, systems, and projects under the MoE and across the education sector. As part of iSherig implementation, the MoE reviewed the ICT literacy curriculum of the Chiphen Rigphel Project and introduced literacy with ICT from class IV, from the 2017 academic session, with some component of coding education.

The Bhutan Education Blueprint 2014-2020 recommended upscaling the ICT ecosystem to raise the quality of education. Further, to maintain continuity on the ICT project, iSherig-1 was developed and the MoE has now developed iSherig-2 between 2019-2023 (ICT Masterplan-2).¹

CodeMonkey was introduced to schools in the second half of 2021 academic year based on the feasibility with respect to computer labs and connectivity in schools by Royal Society for Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (RSSTEM) in consultation with the Ministry of Education and Department of Information Technology and Telecom (DITT). CodeMonkey will be implemented as part of the ICT curriculum from Classes PP – VIII from 2022.

In order to introduce CodeMonkey in schools, Education Monitoring Division was instructed to study ICT readiness before its implementation. Accordingly, EMD has conducted a survey in all the schools. The report is based on the responses of 600 schools. Four schools have not responded the survey questionnaire.

METHODOLOGY

A Google form was designed by EMD in consultation with School IT Unit of School Planning and Coordination Division (SPCD), DSE to collect data ICT readiness from schools. The form was shared with RSSTEM for feedback before sending it to the schools across the country by the focal EMOs of each Dzongkhag/Thromde. The following information were collected from the schools:

- ICT facilities of schools
- ICT flagship computers
- Internet connectivity of schools
- Adequacy of ICT teachers and ICT lab assistants
- Student's and teacher's personal laptops
- Efficacy of CodeMonkey training and lessons.

CodeMonkey Programme

School's ICT Teachers that Have Not Received Training on CodeMonkey

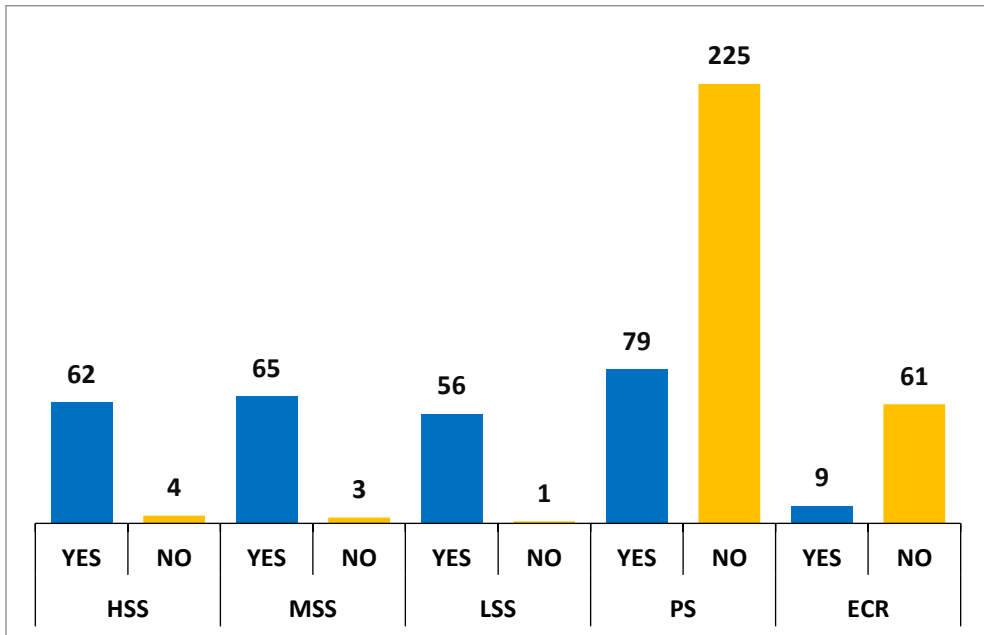

Was training on CodeMonkey effective?

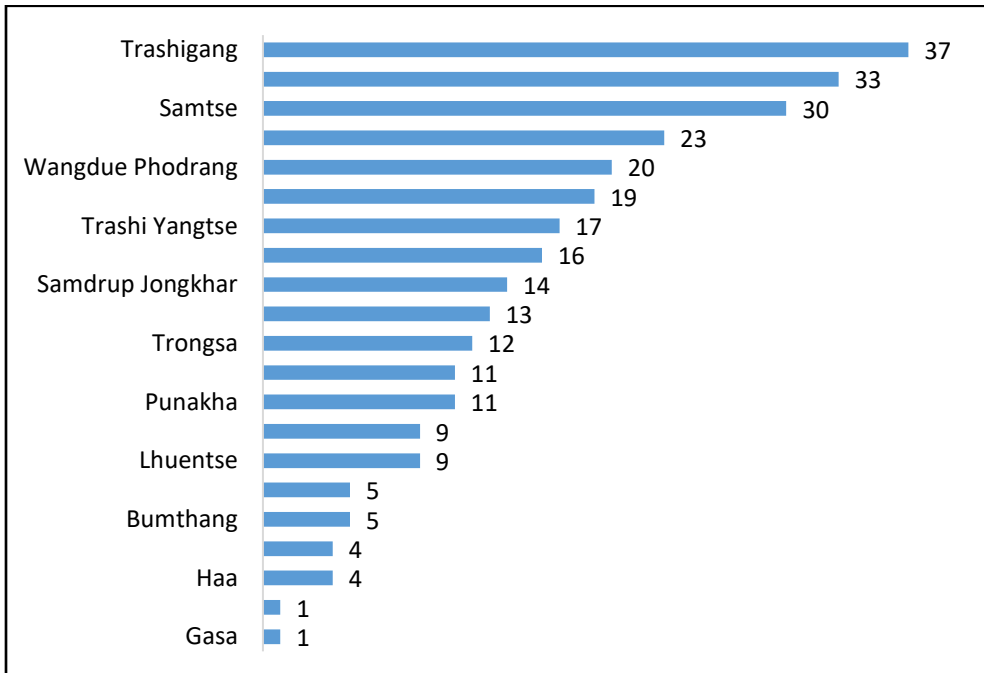

The training of teacher on Codemonkey was not effective due to the following reasons;

- i. Online sessions were hampered by poor internet connectivity.
- ii. Some teachers are finding difficult to teach the concept as the topics are new to them.
- iii. The extension code provided from Flagship Programme is giving problem in supporting all the computers. Since school couldn't procure extension code, school couldn't use all the computer effectively to teach practical class. Just theory class was taught.
- iv. Since the training was conducted virtually, teachers could not get the opportunity to explore how to go about lesson teaching.
- v. Need more familiarization. Only coded the activities during the training which is not enough as we need to get a lot of other skills while teaching.
- vi. Instructions weren't clear due to network issues.
- vii. Not effective as the training was conducted virtually during the peak hours of midterm examination. The CodeMonkey courses were also on the trial version. It could have been little fruitful if the activities were given on the subscribed account.
- viii. It was not a training but just an orientation.

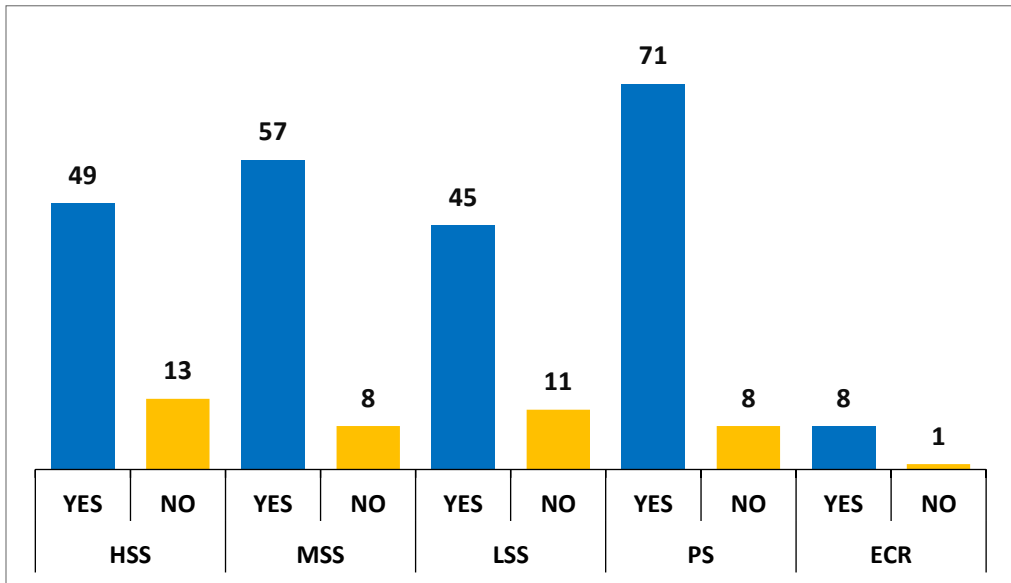

Has school started CodeMonkey lesson?

Number of Schools that Have Not Started CodeMonkey lesson

Is CodeMonkey lesson effective?

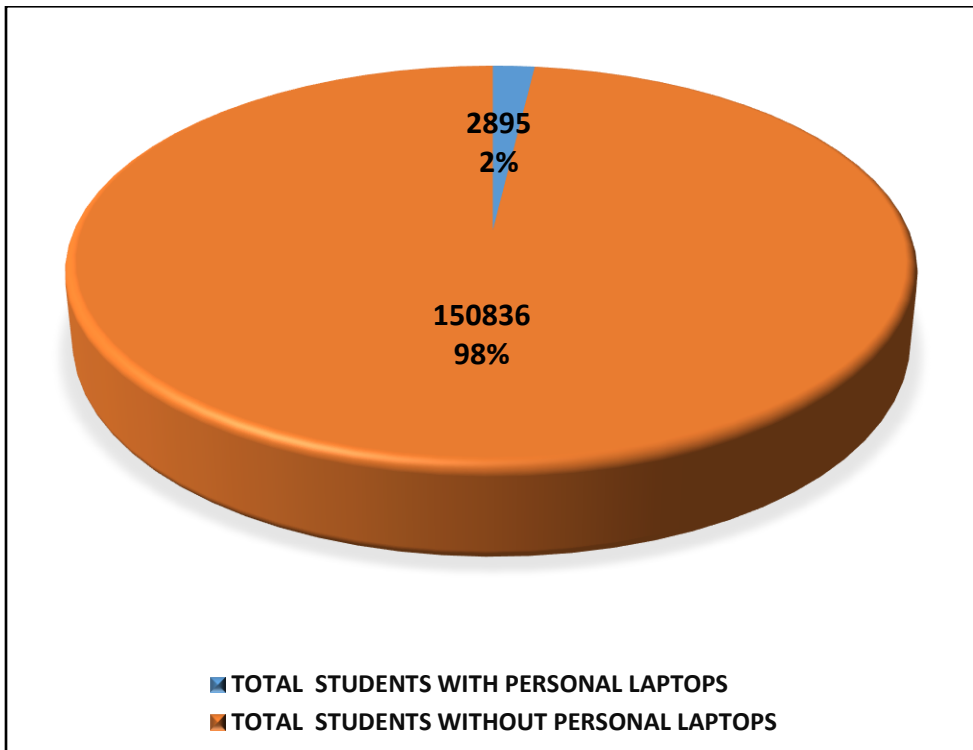

Codemonkey lesson is not effective because of the following reasons

- Poor internet connectivity
- The materials were on place.
- It is bit difficult and puzzling.
- Less time for practical
- Children are not able to complete the courses on stipulated time due to limited no of periods.
- One course has so many levels.
- Since the internet bandwidth is just 11 mbps, it's difficult to browse with 100 plus computers in the school. Practically, it's too less for huge number of users.
- Since school has only one ICT Lab, school have to take practical classes once in two weeks.
- Since most of the students are using computers for the first time, it is quite difficult and also schools, do not have enough lab; school could offer 1 practical class to lower section and 2 to upper section.

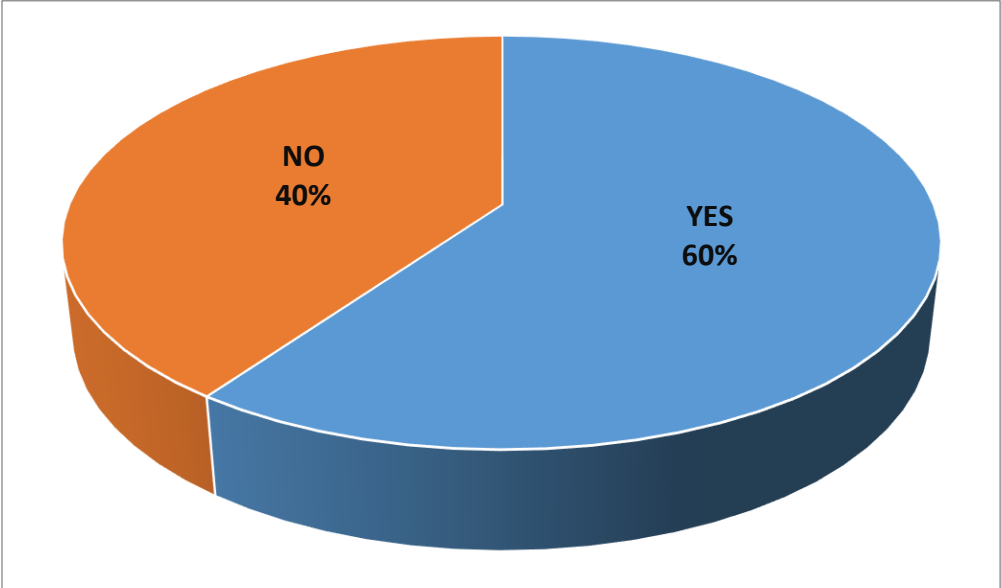

Codemonkey lesson is not applicable to inclusive students because;

- CodeMonkey is mouse oriented programme.
- If it was keyboard oriented program, total blind students and severe low vision can participate to certain extent.
- Screen reader for the blind is possible only through keyboard.
- In screen reader, if there is script for CodeMonkey then it may be feasible for our children.
- If we can purchase JAWS script for CodeMonkey, then it may be feasible for our children.
- Low vision students are trying their best to use the programme with the use of mouse. However, they also have limitation to access the whole CodeMonkey programme.

FINDINGS

- i. Except for Wangsel Institute For The Deaf, all HSS and MSS have ICT laboratories.
- ii. 129 Primary schools and 60 ECR schools don't have ICT laboratories. Majority of schools without ICT labs are from Mongar (29 schools) and Chhukha (20 Schools) Dzongkhags.
- iii. There are 15,350 computers (including ICT flagship) in 565 schools. Around 1924 computers are not working.
- iv. 544 schools have received 10,308 computers from ICT flagship while 3 schools have not received ICT flagship computer.
- v. 97 schools still don't have LCD projectors.
- vi. All HSS, MSS and LSS are connected with internet while 172 PS and 65 ECR are not connected with internet. Majority of schools not connected with internet are from Mongar (31) and Trashigang (32) Dzongkhags.
- vii. There is no net coverage in 5 ECR and 27 ECR net connectivity is not stable.
- viii. 175 schools are without ICT trained teachers and 345 schools are without ICT lab assistants. Majority of schools without ICT trained teachers and ICT lab assistants are from Samtse, Mongar and Trashigang Dzongkhags.
- ix. 657 teachers out of 9336 are still without basic ICT skills.
- x. 48 school's ICT teachers have not received CodeMonkey training and 111 ICT teachers have not found CodeMonkey training effective.
- xi. 234 Primary Schools and 62 ECR have not started CodeMonkey lesson due to lack of internet connection. Majority of schools that have not started CodeMonkey lessons are from Trashigang (38), Mongar (35), Samtse (34) and Chhukha (27) Dzongkhags.
- xii. 172 Primary Schools and 39 ECR have not started CodeMonkey lesson due to lack of internet connection. Majority of schools that have not started CodeMonkey lessons are from Trashigang (38), Mongar (35), Samtse (34) and Chhukha (27) Dzongkhags.

- xiii. 256 schools have not found CodeMonkey lessons effective due to poor network issues.
- xiv. CodeMonkey lessons are not applicable to inclusive students.
- xv. All private schools have ICT lab or ICT rooms and, except for one school, all are connected with internet.
- xvi. Except for Zangkhar Primary school, all 21 Bhutan Baccalaureate schools have ICT lab.

RECOMMENDATION

1. Primary Schools and ECRs need to be provided with adequate ICT facilities such as ICT lab, computers, and LCD projectors.
2. ICT teachers and ICT lab assistants should be provided with basic training on maintenance of computers.
3. HRD should deploy ICT trained teachers and ICT lab assistants to all schools for successful implementation of ICT in all schools.
4. TPSD should provide basic ICT skills training to those 657 teachers without basic ICT skills.
5. Face to face CodeMonkey training should be provided once again to all ICT teachers to bring all teachers on same board.
8. MoE & MOIC should ensure reliable internet connection to all schools for successful implementation of CodeMonkey programme.
9. MOIC should facilitate net coverage to 5 ECRs which do not have net signal.
10. CodeMonkey programme should be made suitable to the inclusive students.
11. All 22 Bhutan Baccalaureate schools should be provided with adequate ICT facilities for successful transition.
